Washington, D.C. – The American Constitution Society for Law and Policy (ACS) today announced that two of the nation’s leading practitioners have joined its Board of Directors.

The new Board members are Jay W. Eisenhofer, founder and managing partner of Grant & Eisenhofer P.A., and Cliff Sloan, partner at Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP.

Both bring diverse, and trailblazing, professional backgrounds to the Board. Eisenhofer founded and helps lead one of the nation’s preeminent legal practices dealing with corporate governance and securities litigation. Sloan is a nationally recognized leader in First Amendment and intellectual property law and a frequent commentator on the Supreme Court.

ACS Executive Director Caroline Fredrickson praised the Board’s selections, saying Eisenhofer and Sloan would provide a wealth of knowledge and experience to an already talent-laden Board.

“Eisenhofer and Sloan are superb additions to ACS’s diverse and distinguished Board,” said Fredrickson. “ACS is honored that these leading lawyers have made such a strong commitment to our organization. Their unique perspectives and talents should help further advance the work of ACS.”

Jay W. Eisenhofer is the founder and managing director of Grant & Eisenhofer, a national law firm dedicated to corporate governance and securities cases. G&E represents public and private institutional investors across the globe that have been harmed by corporate malfeasance. Eisenhofer has been lead counsel in many of the largest securities class action recoveries in history. He has also served as counsel for an array of public and private institutional investors, such as the California Public Employees Retirement System, Colorado Public Employees Retirement Association, the Florida State board of Administration and many others. Directorship magazine has named Eisenhower as one of the 100 most influential people in the field of corporate governance. More detailed biographical information is available here.

Cliff Sloan is a partner at Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, where he advises clients on intellectual property, new media and litigation, including appellate and First Amendment issues. Before joining Skadden, Sloan was general counsel at Washingtonpost.Newsweek Interactive, The Washington Post Company's online subsidiary and served as publisher of Slate magazine. The National Law Journal has described Sloan as "an expert on cyberspace," and named him one of the nation's top lawyers. Sloan is also co-author of the 2009 book, The Great Decision: Jefferson, Adams, Marshall, and the Battle for the Supreme Court. See here for more biographical information.

*The American Constitution Society for Law and Policy is one of the nation's leading progressive legal organizations, comprised of lawyers, judges, students and policy makers committed to promoting the vitality of the Constitution and the fundamental values it expresses.
